

Release Manager (Software Development)

Some of our clients, based in Europe and ranked as the top European employers, are currently looking for several candidates in the role of Release Manager. Locations will be discussed during the first interview.

Role Description

The Release Manager will act as the interface & communicate with Test Managers, Dev. Managers, IT Ops & PMO as well as project stakeholders on a daily basis.

The Release Manager will own the release management lifecycle which includes planning, scheduling, coordinating and the management of releases across various portfolios. The releases can be inclusive of updates, operating system patches or hot fixes, security improvements, changes, etc.

The Release Manager will be responsible for implementing & managing release processes for code through development, test and production environments.

Skills & Requirements

- 3+ years of experience as Release Manager/ Project Manager in a software development environment
- Management of risks that might affect release scope, schedule & quality
- Change & scope management
- Coordination of release scope & duration
- Management of backlog & dependencies to external applications or interfaces
- Release planning & communication of plan & changes to all involved stakeholders

- Release readiness review coordination
- Deployment coordination
- Release News management
- Weekly release reporting
- Improvement management of the release process
- Coordination of the Go-Live! activities
- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science or equivalent
- Formal training in release management
- Advanced English (German is a plus)
- Demonstrated ability to coordinate cross-functional & multi-cultural teams towards task completion
- Demonstrated effective leadership and analytical skills
- General project management tools knowledge (Microsoft Project, Jira/ Confluence, etc.)

Why betheconsultant

- You will be working with a professional recruiter who will guide you throughout the entire recruitment process
- You will be offered more than just one opportunity of available positions
- You will be matched to the best job fit
- You will get the needed support in terms of updating & transforming your CV
- You will be in touch with your recruiter after the finalization of the recruitment process for possible clarifications & needed support